

MARTY JONES

DIRECTOR OF HOUSING AND HOMELESS SERVICES

Marty joined the Council in 2010 after serving for seven years as the Assistant Director and then the Executive Director of the Manchester Center. Beginning as the Family, Community and Youth Services Team Leader within the Council's Child Development programming, Marty's role in the agency has evolved over the years as the Council's Supportive Housing Programs have expanded. Marty earned both a Bachelor's degree in Family Studies and Master's degree in Public Administration from the University of Kentucky. He is passionate about ending homelessness and believes safe, affordable and stable housing is essential to the pathway out of poverty. Born and raised in southeastern Kentucky, Marty now calls Lexington home. He is the father of twins, Anderson and Amelia and enjoys exercising, watching sports, listening to music and pretty much anything outdoors.
